

Conference Speakers :

Heather Collins is the South Coast Section Chief of the California Department of Public Health, Drinking Water Program in Southern California. Her work includes evaluating and permitting existing and emerging water quality treatment technologies for the removal of perchlorate, NDMA and other emerging contaminants from impacted drinking water supplies. She is a member of the CDPH Recycled Water Committee and has dealt extensively with groundwater recharge projects, recycled water distribution systems and water recycling issues around the state. She is a registered Civil Engineer and holds Civil Engineering degrees from Loyola Marymount and California Polytechnic Pomona Universities.

Shivaji Deshmukh is the Groundwater Replenishment System Program Manager at the Orange County Water District, where he has more than 10 years of service and previously served as the Director of Local Resources & Finance and the Assistant Director of Engineering. He is a registered Civil Engineer and holds MS and BS degrees in Civil and Environmental Engineering from the University of California, Los Angeles.

Rich Nagel is the General Manager for West Basin Municipal Water District, and has 23 years of experience in the water supply and wastewater sectors. He leads West Basin's Water Reliability 2020 Program, which aims to reduce the region's dependence on imported water, and has been named the 2009 Recycled Water Advocate of the Year by the California Section of the WaterReuse Association.

Andrew Salvesson is an Associate at Carollo Engineers, with 15 years of experience in the research, planning, and design of water and wastewater treatment systems. He is a registered Civil Engineer and holds a BS in Civil Engineering from San Jose State University and a MS in Water/Wastewater Engineering from UC Davis. In 2007, he was named the WaterReuse Person of the Year.

Frances Spivy-Weber is vice-chair of the State Water Resources Control Board. Prior to her appointment to the Board in 2007, she was Executive Director of the Mono Lake Committee for ten years; a member of the Bay-Delta Public Advisory Committee and co-chair of its Water Use Efficiency Committee; co-chair of the Southern California Water Dialogue; and chair of the California Urban Water Conservation Council.

George Tchobanoglous is a Professor Emeritus of Civil and Environmental Engineering at the University of California, Davis. His research interests include wastewater treatment and reuse, as well as wastewater management for small and decentralized systems. He has authored or co-authored more than 400 technical publications including 16 books, and is a member of the National Academy of Engineers.
